Arthur C. Lueder, state Auditor of Public Accounts, today announced that old age assistance payments in the state for the month of January again increased to a new high figure of $49,510, amounting to $3,731,546.

This represents an increase of $53,582 over December when 149,198 Illinoisans, 65 years of age or over, received $3,677,964.

Lueder, whose office prepares and distributes the monthly warrants said that 97,024 "downstate" recipients received $2,223,880 and that 52,486 Cook co. residents received $1,507,660. The Federal Government contributes one-half of this amount and the remainder comes from the State Treasury.

In Lake county 897 beneficiaries received $21,716. The counties receiving least amounts for old age assistance were Putnam where 136 recipients received $3,454; and Monroe with 213 persons receiving $1,602.

Aid to dependent children warrants issued for the month of January again increased to a new high figure of 18,468 amounting to $599,626.

The federal government makes a partial contribution to this program and the remainder comes from the state treasury.

According to Lueder's report there are 217 dependent children in Lake county and warrants for $3,038 were issued for their care.

Former Agriculture Students Awarded P.M.A. Scholarships

Wilbur Mack and Robert White Honored by Chicago Assn.

Word has been received that two former Vocational Agriculture students of Antioch Township High school have been awarded scholarships by the Pure Milk Association of Chicago.

Wilbur Mack is to attend the short course at the College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, and Robert White will attend Week at the University of Illinois next week.

"Competition was keen this year and these two young men are to be congratulated upon their success," C. L. Kutil, who was their instructor, stated.

In addition to considering their past record in school, F. F. A. and 4-H work, they were asked to write an essay, "Advantages and Disadvantages of Fluid Milk Marketing in the Chicago Area."

The selections were made by the deans of the two colleges.

Stenos and Typists Are Needed at Great Lakes, Hughes Says

There are vacancies for junior stenographers and junior typists at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, according to announcement made this week by Oliver Hughes, secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners.

It is expected that examinations will be held twice monthly and applications will be accepted at the local post office until further notice, Hughes said. Waukegan is the examination point and persons residing in this vicinity, may, of course, specify Waukegan as the place of examination.

There is excellent opportunity for qualified persons, who pass the examinations, to receive consideration for appointment at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill.

Applications may be obtained from Mr. Hughes at the Antioch post office.

William Woodin, Former County Fair Head, Dies

William J. Woodin, a former president of the Lake County Fair association, died Friday evening at Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville. He was 59 years of age. Woodin was secretary of the Lake county division of the Milk Producers' association for 12 years and was active in the organization of the Lake County Farm Bureau. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the Javine church, with burial in Diamond Lake cemetery.

Leonard Roblin has been ill at his home.

Federal Use Tax on Autos Good Until July

The Federal Use Tax sticker, costing every automobile owner $2.09 and good until July 1, need not be on the windshield but may be placed on any conspicuous place on the car, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, pointed out today.

"Since the glue is on the back of the stamp, many motorists have been troubled, wondering how they could secure it to the windshield," he said. "The dashboard, the rear-view window, the rear window or any similar place is just as good, since Federal officers who enforce the law will not be looking for the stamps."

"Each motor vehicle owner's name will be checked against a master list to see if he has paid," Mr. Hayes said.

On July 1 the Use Tax fee will be $5.00, which will be good for the full fiscal year.

In Air Corps

HAROLD ATWOOD
Harold Atwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atwood, Channel Lake, has entered training at Kelly Field as a cadet pilot in the army air corps. He is a graduate of Antioch Township High school and also attended Blackburn college at Carlinville, Ill. His father is a veteran of the first World war.

WILLIAM H. ROOD OF CHANNEL LAKE, 80, DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral services for William H. Rood, who for 35 years has made his home on Linden Lane, Channel Lake, were held Saturday at Oak Woods cemetery chapel, Chicago.

Rood died last Thursday at 2 a. m. after only a half hour's illness. Although he would have been 81 this coming August, he had been in good health and had spent Tuesday with his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Fenderson of Oak Park. He took a keen interest in contemporary matters, and only a short time ago made an appeal to people of the Antioch area to put out food for the birds during the severe weather.

Before retiring in 1927 and coming to Channel Lake, he had been a wholesale shoe dealer in Chicago. He was a member of a Chicago Masonic lodge.

Survivors include two grandchildren, Mrs. Fenderson's twin son and daughter "Betty and Billy" Birney, as they were known here. Betty, now Mrs. F. Daniel Clay, is making her home in Oak Park with her mother while her bridegroom of a few months past is serving with the U. S. armed forces. Billy, William Rood Birney, is in Columbus, O. A step-daughter, Kathryn M. Egan, is a resident of Chicago.

Lee M. Gentry, chairman of the Illinois Agricultural War board, has urged local draft boards throughout the state to consider the nation's food need in passing on the claims of farm boys for agricultural deferments. He stated that he was receiving reports from agricultural communities that led him to believe some local boards were not heeding the recommendations of state and national selective service officials.

Mrs. E. J. Steiskal and children returned recently from a month's visit with Mrs. Steiskal's mother, Mrs. A. DeArmond of Albany, Ind.

Collect $1,345.10 in Red Cross Drive; More Funds to Come

Committee Adds 138 Names to Donor List Since Last Week

Collections in Antioch community for the American Red Cross War Emergency fund yesterday totaled $1,345.10, according to the report of George B. Bartlett, chairman for the local drive, and his associate workers in Antioch township.

It is believed that this community has made more than a creditable showing as compared with other localities of the size of Antioch, and that the local part of the county's quota has been exceeded. Committee members made quite an intensive canvass and the community was responsive with but very few exceptions.

Chairman Bartlett and his assistants, Clete Vos and Walter Scott, expressed their satisfaction with the results of the drive in Antioch and also voiced their thanks to citizens for their splendid response.

The fund, which is now deposited in Antioch banks, will be increased by additional donations until the close of the drive. Persons who have not contributed and wish to do so may leave their donations at the State Bank or First National Bank in Antioch.

Following are the names of persons who were not contacted last week and who have contributed, since the first report was published on January 22:

Star of Service

Design for star of service to be posted in homes of Illinois soldiers' families.

Sons in Military Service" on the margin. In the center is a silver star placed on a background of a shield which bears the words, "Our Home Has Contributed." The colors are silver, red and blue.

Green's office said the emblem was planned originally for the families of the members of the 33rd division and other Illinois National Guard units, but that its use was extended to all branches of the armed services at the governor's suggestion.

Wherever possible the services of selective service boards will be used in the distribution of the stickers.

Plans also are being made for a plaque to be hung on the walls of offices, stores, and factories listing the number of men contributed to military service by business concerns.

These applications do not apply to beginning drivers and delivery will not be made until just prior to the expiration date of May 1, 1942.

The renewal license will remain in effect until May 1, 1945 and the fee is fifty cents.

Any new drivers prior to May 1, 1942 must apply for the period before that date and then renew.

Two Fronts

The United States must fight on two fronts. First, there is the military front. American soldiers, sailors and airmen are fighting and dying in the Pacific. They are living up to the highest traditions of this nation's military history. They must be given the finest battle equipment in the world, and they must be given it in lavish quantity. All the resources of this nation, human and material alike, must be used to that end.

Second, there is the home front. We have said, time and again, that we are fighting to defend and perpetuate freedom. That is true. But the defense of freedom at home, as on the war front, demands more than lip service. It demands straight thinking from all. It demands a people who will look squarely at the facts, no matter how unpleasant they may be. It demands national toughness that knows precisely what we are fighting for, and that will permit nothing to stand in the way of victory on the home front no less than the military front.

We will, of necessity, demand and accept a large measure of economic dictatorship during the war. Whether that dictatorship ends when the war ends, will depend upon the resolution and the understanding of the American people. The future of this country and this kind of government is in the balance. The people will decide which way the scales are tipped.

The free enterprise system is at stake in this war. Upon the maintenance of free enterprise all the other freedoms—freedom of press, freedom of speech, freedom of religion—hang and depend. Anything which weakens and emasculates free enterprise is the enemy of the nation. We cannot have an ever-expanding bureaucracy and have efficiency. We cannot allow non-defense spending to go unchecked and expect to avoid economic collapse. We cannot punish industry and expect it to be able to do its utmost.

There is nothing dramatic about these statements. They are simply honest truths. The winning of this war—and the winning of the peace that follows—will depend on how well the American people understand them.

There has never been such unity as this country has at present. Every American stands solidly behind the President in the pledge to wage war until international gangsterism is destroyed. The spirit of the nation is one of grim, uncompromising determination. But let all remember that the home front is as vital to war and to the perpetuation of our way of life as the battlefield. There will be subversive influences on both fronts. Only an awakened, aware people can prevent their depredations.

We fight for freedom, then. And we must fight for it all the way—fight for it here in America, no less than in the broad reaches of the oceans and the lands beyond.

Politics in 1942

The Republican National Committee has a new publicity head and assistant chairman in the person of Clarence Buddington Kelland, celebrated American writer and Republican National Committeeman from Arizona. Much interest was manifest in his first speech since his appointment, made at the annual convention of the National Livestock Association. Like every good American, Mr. Kelland pronounced our first duty the winning of the war in which we now find ourselves engaged. Our second duty he declared, is to "engage vigorously in politics."

By politics, Mr. Kelland emphasizes that he did not mean the cheap pettifogging variety of job-seeking partisan politics but rather "the machinery through which the coming man can see to it that he is properly governed."

Mr. Kelland pointed out the difference between national unity—now virtually essential—and political unity, which means the totalitarian form of government now prevalent in Germany, Italy, Japan and Russia. "When political unity comes in the door," he declared, "human liberty goes out of the window. It is political unity which has plunged this world into war."

There is no question as to the soundness of Mr. Kelland's views. We want no cheap partisan politics in this year of 1942, nor do we want a one-party totalitarian rule, the ideals of which we are now fighting. It is the duty of every man regardless of party to support the administration in its war effort just as it is this same man's duty to point out any leaks in the dyke or make any constructive suggestions for aiding the administration in carrying on the war.

Mr. Kelland quoted from Woodrow Wilson, President during our first World War, these words:

"We do not need less criticism in time of war but more. It is to be hoped that criticism will be constructive, but better unfair attack than autocratic repression."

There is no question that we will have politics in this year of 1942 just as we have had in all election years during time of peace and in time of war. There is no question either but that both parties and their leaders will loyally support the carrying on of the war, and that they will offer constructive criticism or constructive defense, as ideas are presented to them. Anything less, than this would be a departure from American traditions, spelling not unity but disunity.

JESUS CALLS FOUR DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 5:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.—Mark 1:17.

Followers of Christ are those who have not counted their goods nor their persons their own, but have willingly yielded all to Him. Obviously many who profess to follow Him have only done so in that measure which will not interfere with their own plans and interests. They need to study this lesson with care.

The call of Christ is one which demands willing and wholehearted obedience.

I. Yielded Possessions (vv. 1-3)

These disciples had already responded to the ministry of Jesus and had followed Him for a time (see John 1:35-4:54), but they did not yet know the fullness of surrender to Christ and had now gone back to their old work of fishing. May they not be typical of many in our day who know the Lord and have for a time followed Him closely, but have again become engrossed in their daily vocation, perhaps just making money?

Jesus was now ready to call them out into a lifetime of service, and the first thing He did was to ask the use of their chief possession, their boat. That was first yielded to Him.

It was not by chance that it was Peter's boat which was just at hand when the Master needed it. Such things do not "just happen." The destinies of men are in the hands of God, and with His children the simplest happening is known to and controlled by Him. He who numbers the hairs on our heads, He who observes the fall of the sparrow, knows about everything that happens to us.

II. Yielded Service (vv. 4-7)

Having completed His teaching by word, Jesus had a special object lesson for Peter and the others concerning the fruitlessness of service apart from His guidance, and control, and the blessed results which come from obedience to Him.

Taking them where He found them, He showed the disciples that He was the Master even of their secular vocation of fishing. He is the One who knows more about your business than you do, who can give or withhold His blessing. All that we have has come to us from His hand, and it is all within His control.

This Almighty One was ready to call these fishermen out into the greater business of fishing for men by revealing to them His mighty power to bless and prosper the fisherman—who becomes a fisher of men.

III. Yielded Lives (vv. 8-11).

The giving of their possessions, the yielding of their work into His hands in obedience, led up to His call for the yielding of their lives.

Often we speak of God's claims upon the life of the Christian as though it were the fiat of an autocrat, one who demands his rights. God might well do so, for He has full authority and power over all of us, but He is a gracious God and gently leads His children along to the place where they make their own decision to leave all and follow Him.

The work of God in the world is carried on by men. The joy of proclaiming the gospel was not given to the angels, but to redeemed men and women. Knowing the regenerating grace of God in their own lives, they have been called during all this Christian era to go out to tell others.

In preparation for that ministry our Lord needed yielded lives, which He sought and found in these humble fishermen. They were "not visionaries or dreamers, but were practical men with common sense. They had been disciplined in the school of common toil . . . Though unlearned so far as formal theological training was concerned, these men were teachable. Under the tutelage of the Son of God Himself they received matchless informal training . . . leading to a record of service which the world will never forget. It is that sort of teaching that counts. We, too, may learn in the school of Christ, through a study of His Word, assisted by His Spirit, and through the yielding of our lives to His control" (B. L. Olmstead).

Christ no longer walks this earth to seek and call out disciples as He did these men, but the blessed succession of those of whom it may be said, "They forsook all and followed Him" (v. 11), continues to this day.

We repeat what we have said before, that one of the thrilling things about teaching Sunday school is that God is going to touch the heart of some boy or girl who will be a leader for Him for the next generation.

American food sent to Britain is put to good use in the emergency feeding centers. Shown here are boys and girls who have lost their homes through bombing. Their school teachers help serve them with piping hot stew. Thousands of people throughout British towns and cities, in similar homeless condition, are being well fed at low cost at community feeding centers.

Blue Racer, Blacksnake Same

Blue racer is another name for the blacksnake, a common colubrine snake prevalent over eastern North America from Canada to Florida. Specimens from the West and Southwest represent a distinct color variety, exhibiting a more or less bright olive green with the whole under surface greenish white to bright yellow. This accounts for the names blue racer, yellow bellied and green racers.

To neglect the Church of Jesus Christ is to neglect the moral and spiritual life of our nation.

Military victory will not insure our national safety. Our greatest danger is not from any foreign foe, but from our own personal and national spiritual disintegration. It follows that any military victory, however glorious, must be attended by an even greater spiritual victory if the fruits of our sacrifice are to be conserved. To this end we invite you to become regular in attendance on our worship services and other activities of the church.

PRAYER AND THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Contributed by the Bahai' Group

"I, there any remover of difficulties save God!" Say, "Praise be to God He is best! All are His servants and all are standing by His command."

"Say, God suffices all things above all things, and nothing in the heavens or in the earth but God suffices. Verily, He is Himself the knower, the sustainer, the omnipotent!"

"In the Name of God, the Victor of the most victorious, proclaiming God will assist all those who arise to serve Him. No one is able to deprive Him of His majesty, His dominion, His sovereignty, for in the heaven and the earth and in all the realms of God He is the Victor and the conqueror!"

"The cornerstone of the religion of God is the acquisition of divine perfection and the sharing in His manifold bounties. The essential purpose of faith and belief is to enable the inner being of man with the outpourings of grace from on high. If he has not attained it is indeed deprivation. It is the realization of this deprivation that is the true eternal fire. Religion is an attitude toward God reflected in our daily lives. The essence of faith is fitness of words and abundance of deeds; he whose words exceed his deeds, know verily his death is better than his life."

The Observer

We never believed Hitler was really crazy until he started driving deeper into Russia at the beginning of winter.

It is hard for us to believe there is any reason for a paper shortage so long as we receive several pounds of public documents every day, pure propaganda, that we do not want, do not read, and which is thrown into the waste basket every morning.

After looking over the Congressional appropriations of billions, it looks to us as if it would be a good idea to put some of the congressmen out where the fighting is, and some of the soldiers in Congress for the time being. It isn't the billions on paper that are going to count—it's the doing the best with what we have and can get together in hurry. It isn't so darn important for a manufacturer to make a big profit as it is for him to hurry up and get some action going so he'll have a country to have a factory in. The same goes for labor and all the rest of us, too. We ought to win, not so much because of material resources, but because, like we've said before, we have the brains of the world in this country, to figure out how to use these resources to best advantage. And because we are not primarily a hating people, we probably will use those resources to best advantage. Joe Louis doesn't win his fights by hating people but by getting down to work. We understand Hitler predicts the U. S. will lose out on account of having some citizens who are of negro descent and a few more who trace their lineage to Israel. Well, all we gotta say is, we'll betcha a few colored folks like Joe Louis and a few Jewish brains are probably gonna help prove him wrong . . . along with the rest of the nationalities that have helped to build this great and beautiful America of ours. And America never did look quite so beautiful to us as now.

Funny thing about all these wars raging over the face of the earth. Few of the nations involved wanted them very much—in fact, it's our guess even the Germans and Japanese were more or less shamed in by aggressive military leaders.

Speaking of mistakes—this here now war situation sure has been full of them, too. Germany made a pretty bad one when she invaded Poland. But the League of Nations made one further back when Japan was allowed to take over Manchuria. That started off the Italian-Ethiopian affair, etc., as other nations got the idea a good bluff backed up with force and ruthlessness, would work. England made one when she loaned Germany money that was used for re-arming, over the protests of France and the advice of the U. S. France made one, when she didn't extend the Maginot line across the Belgian frontier, and another when she entrusted the defense of the "little Maginot line" on the Belgian frontier mainly to the British, who were not unwilling to assist or to do their part, but were just a little slow in trying to figure out what tactics to use. The United States, oddly enough, though perhaps more aware of danger than either of those countries—for this war was more or less anticipated by American statesmen and military leaders since before the last one ended—made the mistake of not listening to the late Gen. Billy Mitchell and having more airplanes; and of expecting enemies to be honorable.

We bin reading the papers and see where Japan has been reported as "not unwilling" to "accept overtures" from the Chinese for a separate peace. The situation must look worse to them than we think it does. Looks like they're worse off than the guy who caught a Tartar and then the Tartar wouldn't let him go. He only had one guy to worry about.

A bachelor gal of our acquaintance says one thing about being single and owning your own car is, you don't have to put up with no arguments when you put a nick in the fenders—all you gotta do is take it over to the garage man and say, "Here, fix this!" —and that's that—but if the married sistren so much as scratch the finish on the family bus—heaven help 'em!

THE "J-I-G" IS UP

When Colonel C. R. Stribling, of the Missouri Military Academy, heard about America's declaration of war, he made this remark: "It's plain as A-B-C-D that the Jig is up." Then the Colonel explained: Plain as A-B-C-D—America, Britain, China and the Dutch East Indies—the so-called A-H-C powers. That the Jig is up, he said, mean "J-I-G," Japan, Italy, and Germany. You can mark that down as an alphabetical prophecy."

N. E. Shiley relays from Dayton, Ohio, this touching tale as related in the public prints—

"A lady who says she inadvertently dropped asleep on West Madison street around 2 a. m. the other dawn asks our help. She says she removed her new teeth ($2.00), laid them on a building ledge and dozed briefly. Later she noticed an empty taste in her mouth, tried futilely to retrace her steps to the ledge. She writes in

Lunching on American Bacon

American bacon sandwiches form the lunch of this British coal miner, photographed as he halted work for a meal far underground. U. S. farmers are making it possible to send thousands of tons of pork, dairy, and poultry products overseas, thereby giving new strength to the English people in their fight against Nazi Germany.

pathetic truth that they are of no use to the one who found them and make her much more attractive."

We see where the boys aren't letting the girls get very far ahead of them at Antioch grade school—they're taking up knitting, too; and doing pretty well at it—as well as taking a hand in the sale of defense stamps at the school. In fact, we hear one capable young gentleman was managing to do BOTH at the same time.

The House of Representatives voted the other day to end the rule of Mayor LaGuardia as head of civilian defense on the theory that he is too busy to attend two jobs. Nonsense. We saw a picture of him the other day attending another fire in downtown New York and he didn't look particularly busy.

Many Desperadoes
Are Still at Large in U.S., G-Men Reveal

Pushed Off Front Pages by War News, Criminals Yet
Keep FBI Busy.

WASHINGTON.—War and national news have pushed the lawbreakers of "public enemies" off the front pages but the underworld still boasts a sizable population, Federal Bureau of Investigation officials disclose.

John Dillinger is dead, "Baby Face" Nelson is dead, and so are many other criminals who ruled gangdom during the past two decades. The race isn't extinct, however, and a dozen or more dangerous law violators still roam the nation.

"Their fields of operation extend from Maine to southern California and from the Florida bayous to the snow-white peaks of Washington, but their activities are concentrated mostly in the mid and southwestern states where roads are straight and clear and quick getaways are comparatively easier," the FBI said.

"And they are armed. Revolvers of all calibers, sawed-off shotguns, rifles and submachine guns are the weapons they use most frequently. And, almost always they carry side-arms between 'jobs.'

Always Dangerous.

"In other words, they are dangerous characters at all times, night and day—at rest or at play."

A survey of FBI records shows that hundreds of criminals still are at large in the United States, a dozen of whom are classified as real desperadoes—public enemies with imposing lists of crimes who have no scruples when it comes to a showdown.

"Take Irving C. Chapman, for instance," said the FBI. "He operates chiefly in the southeastern states. A native of Philadelphia, Miss., he has the reputation of being one of the most clever and dangerous bank robbers who ever operated in this country.

"He has been sentenced to enough years in state and federal penitentiaries to keep him locked up for the rest of his life—and even more. But he has always jumped bail or managed to escape.

"Once he sawed off the bars of the Shreveport, La., jail and lowered himself to the ground eight floors below with a rope made of mattress covers.

"The last time he escaped was in 1937 when nine prisoners at the Eastham state prison farm in Texas made a break armed with a couple of rifles. One guard was wounded and a prisoner was killed during the confusion.

"Three men, including Chapman, eluded recapture but eventually two of them succumbed to exhaustion from the rigor of their mad flight and were overcome by two men they had taken with them as hostages.

Still at Large.

"Chapman is still at large and has become a notorious and more or less fictional outlaw in Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida where he robbed banks and evaded capture by hiding in the sparsely populated areas."

Another criminal sought intensively by the FBI is Clarence V. Stevens. With two accomplices he allegedly kidnapped Miss Mary McElroy of Kansas City, Mo., in May, 1933, and obtained a $30,000 ransom, most of which subsequently was recovered. Stevens has never been found, but the search goes on.

Among other dangerous fugitives is James Straka. He is the "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" of the underworld. Investigation disclosed that at one time he lived in Bellaire, Ohio, under the name of George Greschner, a respectable businessman during the day and the leader of a gang of burglars at night.

"And there's no doubt about his being dangerous. He allegedly carries a bottle of nitroglycerin at all times!"

Nose Operation Asked;

It's Too Long for Mask

LONDON.—A man with a big nose walked into the Central London Throat, Nose and Ear hospital, and blandly informed the surgeon:

"I want you to cut off the tip of my nose. You see, it's so large that it's uncomfortable when I have to wear an oxygen mask when flying."

The man is a Polish pilot.

Despite the fact that it was a big nose, the surgeon declined to operate. Not feeling discouraged, the pilot later turned up at Golden Square hospital, but, unknown to him, these two institutions are actually one and he was received by the same nurse.

"Sorry," she said, "but we still can't cut a perfectly good nose."

Judge Clings to Routine

DUNCAN, OKLA.—Neither fire nor flood will make Judge Cham Jones deviate from the correct rules of court procedure.

Judge Jones was presiding at a session of district court when an unidentified man rushed into the courtroom shouting:

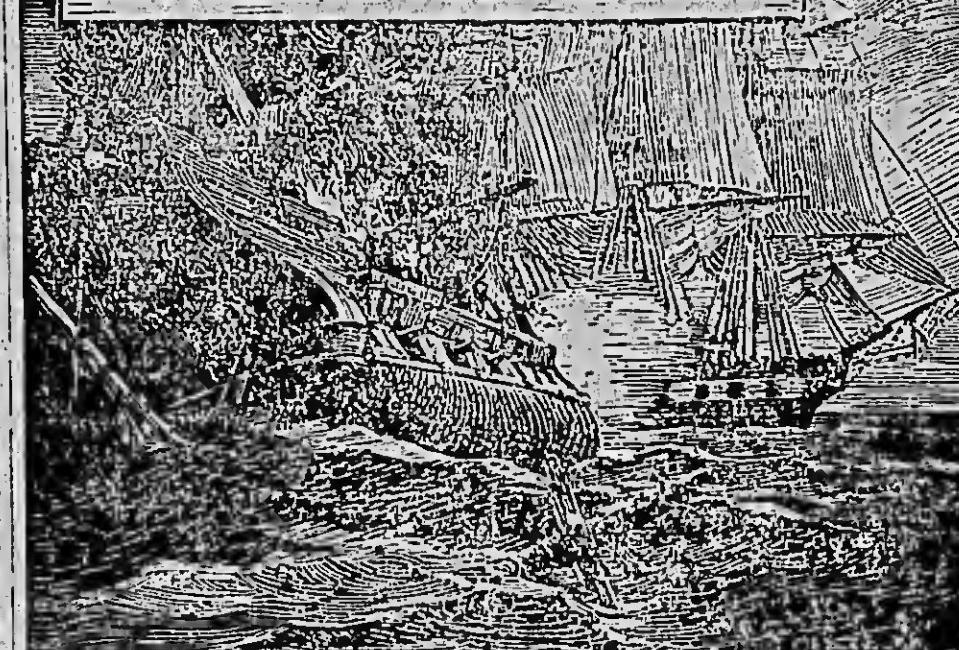

"The courthouse is on fire!"

The judge took time to dismiss court in proper form before making a hasty exit.

This American Tire Made From This American Bush

O'Neill Jones Kloesner

Proving that manufacture of tires from the American grown guayule shrub is practical, William O'Neill, president of The General Tire & Rubber Co., has turned over to Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, a specimen of the mature plant and a tire made entirely of guayule rubber. The tire was made in the same General Tire plant and in the same machines used in making tires from far eastern rubber. O'Neill has urged the development of guayule as an emergency rubber supply for years. A bill now before Congress calls for the immediate planting of all available guayule seed in the states of Texas, California, New Mexico and Arizona. Because it thus far is impossible to make a tire from synthetic rubber alone, O'Neill is urging the growth of guayule to supplement the 400,000 ton production of synthetic already announced by Jones. American Legion Posts in all parts of the country are supporting the O'Neill guayule program, which O'Neill discussed this week with Secretary Jones and H. J. Kloesner, president of the Rubber Reserve Corporation.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

President Sketches World Strategy; Australia Is Periled by Japanese Army Invasion of Its Key Island Outposts; Nelson Speeds Up U. S. War Production

(EDITORIAL NOTE.—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Enclosed by Western Newspaper Union.)

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state and head of the U. S. delegation to the Pan-American conference at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, is cheered by spectators as he waves his hat from the Tiradentes' palace, scene of the historic meeting.

BLUEPRINT: Of World Battle

While the nation girded itself for victory production on a scale never hitherto dreamed of, and while American soldiers were arriving on foreign fields ready to do battle until victory, while still others were filling the news with their heroic exploits, President Roosevelt gave newsmen a hint of the "blueprint of battle."

The President, following the close of the Churchill conferences, and the safe return of the British premier to London by airplane from Bermuda, had told little to newsmen save that there was a complete accord among the United Nations.

Now he had begun to give them the picture, a portrait of battle carried on simultaneously in every part of the globe by the soldiers of all nations working in concert with each other.

Thus were found American aviators fighting in the Singapore area, with the Dutch in the East Indies, in the Philippines, over the Seven Seas, and most lately arriving in Britain, and other points for service.

The President said one could look at the map of the world and assume that the anti-Axis group was doing something at almost every strategic point.

He said that joint technical committees were busy, covering the subjects of production, of transportation of produced supplies to every part of the globe, also to the assignment of fighting men and machines to points where they were most needed.

While all of his information had been of a general nature, the nearest he came to giving out details was when he said that excellent progress was being made in strengthening the Allied forces in the Pacific.

This latter statement was taken by the press to be an attempt by the President to allay Chinese fears that the Allies were not going to make a vigorous enough battle against the Japs.

The President had finished a conference with Dr. Hubertus Van Mook, Lieutenant Governor General of the Netherlands Indies. Dr. Van Mook came out of the conference room beaming:

JAPS: Extend Fronts

The Japs, far from being licked or even stopped, were constantly extending their front, and with reports of their continued advances spreading out with attacks on all fronts, came dispatches telling of two new ventures. These were the invasion of New Guinea and the Solomon island area; and an invasion of Burma by the Siamese as a measure to aid Japan.

Indicating a threat to Australia itself, the New Guinea invasion was panned by air attacks and movement of naval forces. The Solomon Islands lie in a chain northeast of Australia and east of New Guinea.

The Burma invasion had started at Myawaddie on the Burma-Thai frontier. This lies at the northern end of the Burmese panhandle bordering the puppet country.

It had not been unexpected, and General Wavell's headquarters some time before had told of Chinese reinforcements to the Burmese troops, apparently sent there for just such a contingency.

The invaders also seized the port of Tavoy, which biscuits the panhandle and gave the Japs assistants a good advantage in opening the fighting.

Jap fliers were reported to have occupied a flying field at Tavoy, and roared out to attack with bombs the important cities and ports of Moulmein and Rangoon.

PRODUCTION:
OPM Finally Dies

The OPM, over which William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman had presided as twin genii for many hard-working, hard-fighting months prior to American entry into the war, finally died. Production Chief Donald Nelson supplanting it entirely with his new War Production board, probably to be known as WPB.

Mr. Nelson, however, had "portfolios" in his new series of divisions for most of the key men in OPM—for it was not so much a junking of an old organization as a revamping of it on a streamlined basis.

The placing of one man, Nelson, at the head of the war production effort, also necessarily called for a change in organization.

This was undertaken fearlessly by Nelson, who created five primary divisions, most of them utilizing as heads former members of the organization of OPM, SPAB and other groups.

Leon Henderson still was in charge of civilian supply; Hillman still had the labor job; Stacy May was "progress reporter," and so on down the line.

Probably the first and most vital job, almost coincidental with the naming of Nelson himself, went to Knudsen. The big motor man became a Lieutenant General, in direct charge of the speeding up of factory production in general, that is, as far as Army procurement was concerned.

But the man who was to be most in the public eye for the next few weeks was Ernest Knauss, a new figure in the picture, who was named automobile production czar—not of automobiles, but of what the auto factories are going to make.

MACARTHUR: Resistance

As if to prove that the defeat of his army had been prematurely predicted, General MacArthur sprung a distinct surprise on Washington and the country's newspapers when he reported that American-Filipino resistance was continuing on the island of Mindanao in the vicinity of Davao.

An all-out Japanese effort to turn the Luzon defenders' right flank had earlier been turned back with heaviest Jap losses; and yet the danger was far from over, for the Japanese were reported returning to the attack again with vigor.

It was reported that an entire Japanese army—estimated by some as many as 300,000 men—had been thrown into the battle for Luzon and the whole Bataan peninsula front blazed into action in a renewal of the Japanese attempt to crush the defenders.

But the word from MacArthur's headquarters that fighting was continuing in Mindanao came long after official Washington had given up Mindanao for lost, and simply showed how difficult communications were in the area.

It was believed possible that Mac-

Arthur himself had thought Mindanao gone until he received belated word from the southern island that the battle was still in progress.

CRITIQUE:

A dual report on profiteering came before the legislative bodies of the congress, the Truman report and the Vinson report—named for their committee chairmen, the former rushing into print and into the press a few days ahead of the latter.

That congress, aware of the huge character of the hurling of $6 billions into war production in two short years, and of what this might mean if profits were allowed to go beyond certain limits, intended to clamp the lid down was evident.

'March of Dimes'

Alma F. Borgmeyer, clerk in the mail room at the White House, opens mail bags jammed with "March of Dimes" letters addressed to President Roosevelt and designed to aid in the fight against infantile paralysis. The mail was reaching its peak just before the President's Diamond Jubilee Celebration on January 30.

SUB ATTACKS: Intensified

Submarines, probably German U-boats, were pressing their attacks along the East coast of the United States, but the Navy department had reported that strong counter measures were being taken.

The whereabouts of the navy's chief strength was being kept a closely guarded secret, but all authorities from the President down continued to insist that the navy was extremely active, and was disposed in such a manner as best to meet present threats.

The sinking of a Japanese cruiser by navy bombing planes was announced, and there had been a number of sinkings of supply ships, some of them close to Japan.

Most dramatic had been the exploit of PT-boat division commander Lieutenant Bulkley, who shot his own boat at 80 miles an hour into the Bay of Olongapo, sent a 5,000-ton Japanese vessel to the bottom and escaped unscathed.

Bulkley's boat, a 77-foot speedster, carries heavy machine-guns and 18-inch torpedoes. He was being hailed as a hero almost on a par with Colin Kelly.

The cruiser sinking lacked details, but the navy said it was sent to the bottom 100 miles off the island of Jolo, one of the nearly 8,000 isles of the Philippine group.

Where the American bombers which did this trick and achieved other victories were based was a closely guarded secret, but there were many possible bases in territory within reach of the location where the sinking occurred.

PRICE CONTROL:
'Joker'

The price control bill, sulking in the house and senate conference under the baleful displeasure of the President, continued to bog down as prices continued to soar.

The farm relief "joker" in the bill had met with condemnation, not only from the White House, but from many leading agricultural centers, and this remained the main point of controversy in the bill.

In the meantime, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard came out with a statement that there probably would be a shortage of sugar, just after all the refinery men had gone out on a limb with the opposite prediction.

Sugar hoarders, and other purchasers of foodstuffs were continuing to storm grocery stores and cartoons were published under the caption "this little pig went to market" showing hoarders at their deadly work at the grocery counters.

Administration circles were at their gloomiest over the situation, one source saying "we had hoped to get an improvement over the house bill when we got to the senate, but the senate bill was worse than the house bill, and now most of us would be calling it a victory if we could get the house bill enacted."

MISCELLANY:

Bern: German rationing has cut men down from five cigarettes a day to three. Women are allowed no tobacco ration whatever.

Vichy: A German soldier was shot and killed outside a Paris night club. Police were able to arrest a young girl said to have been a witness. She was confronted with a dozen suspects and ordered to pick out the man who fired the shot.

Batavia: The Dutch admitted the loss of Minahassa, the northern portion of the Island of Celebes. It was the second severe loss of oil-important islands in the N.E.I.

London: Already work was in progress reviving the "scorched areas" of Soviet Russia retaken by the Red army. It was announced that Sir John Russell had been named advisor to the board, and would go to Russia with American, Canadian and British help to put Russian production back into being.

Antioch, Richmond Meet in "Comedy of Errors" Game

Sequoit Victory, 33 to 24,
Follows Wild Playing on Both Sides

Antioch defeated Richmond Tuesday night on the home team's floor by a score of 33 to 24. Antioch's play wasn't up to par, or at least its playing wasn't in keeping with the brand of ball playing displayed in their last appearance before the local fans, their 27-26 victory over Bensenville. The boys appeared to be resting on their past laurels as they swept into an early half-time lead of 21 to 9. This lead was the result, not so much of the Sequoits' stellar playing, but was due, rather, to the mistakes of the Richmond basketeers. Still immersed in their newspaper clippings as the second half got under way, the Sequoits were amazed at the second-half comeback of the Richmond players.

As the last quarter opened, Antioch's opponents had whittled Antioch's lead down to 29-18 and seemed on their way to a startling upset, for the Antioch boys were as wild as the March Hare in their passing, resembling in no way the team that had subdued Bensenville and which had faced Palatine, the co-holder of first place with Antioch in the Northwest conference, into an overtime before they were able to edge out a one point victory.

However, Richmond was not able to follow up its third quarter spurt and the fourth quarter resolved itself into a comedy of errors. With neither team playing the type of basketball which both have shown that they were capable of on previous occasions, the finale showed a score of 33-24 in Antioch's favor.

A word of warning must be sounded to the Antioch boys, that they must play a much better brand of ball if they hope to retain first place in the Conference race, for on Saturday night they come up against the strong Barrington five who are especially desirous of detaching Antioch's scalp.

Once again the Sequoits' chief, Dale Barnstable, led his tribe in scoring, with 12 markers. Pressing him for hunting laurels was Panther Jimmy Jones, who threaded the basket for 10 points.

The aroused Sequoits' papoose, still smarting from the wounds suffered in their last two starts, hit the victory trail with a vengeance, defeating the Richmond seconds by a score of 25-6. So close was their guarding that they held Richmond scoreless from the field until the last two minutes of play, when Richmond was able to score against Antioch's weakest combination, Tomahawk Brett, that young Sequoit braved, tallied half of his team's points. The manner in which Tomahawk scored his thirteen points and the scrappiness he displayed are believed by many to foretell his promotion to the first team. The rest of the team's points were divided rather evenly among the other twelve boys who at one time or another appeared in the game.

Girls' Athletic Club
Plans Winter Sports

(By Martha Winch)

The Girls' Athletic association will be very active the next few months, for, under the direction of Dorothy Aronson, social chairman for January, it is planning a party of winter sports. While details of this forthcoming event are still under discussion, the association also has under consideration plans for a possible movie and also a valentine party with the A club. This last will be managed for the A. A. by Grace King, who is social chairman for February.

The inter-class basketball tournament is to start in February and will have as captains of the competing teams:

Mabel Lou Hunter—Freshmen

Kathleen Fields—Sophomores

Ella Faye—Juniors

Peggy Deltetas—Seniors

Last year the sophomore team (this year's Juniors) won the tournament and this year, instead of resting on their laurels, they promise to defend their supremacy with might and main.

The basketballers of Antioch Township High School G. A. will compete with all the other high schools in Illinois in a telegraphic meet March 16.

Mid-Winter Concert Favorably Received

(By Rosalie Sibley)

A favorable reception met the annual Mid-Winter concert which the Music Department of the Antioch Township High school under the direction of Hans Von Holwede, gave Friday evening, in the school auditorium.

Applause went to Stuart Good, freshman, who sang with the swing band; Billy White, saxophonist, who played "Walz in A Flat." Favorite selections were presented by the chorus, the band, and the jazz band.

The proceeds of the program will help to buy uniforms for the high school band.

After the concert there was a dance which both students and patrons enjoyed, to the music of the High School Swing band.
